I am a good listener and I take other people's opinions into consideration. I believe that in order to make the best decisions everyone should be able to share their ideas without being judged. I am a positive person, I like to find the good in people, and I get excited when an idea starts to become a reality. I believe in my abilities to lead others, encourage others, and bring others together. I work well in both a team setting as well as an independent setting. Throughout my time so far at Grant Career Center I have been able to help others develop skills that may not be their strong suit, such as, assisting in proper knife cuts, giving direction when one of my classmates may not know what to do or where to put something, and answering any questions I can that one of my classmates may have. I have also developed and improved some skills of my own, including, proper time management, conversion formulas, proper use of equipment in the kitchen, and better communication skills with my advisor/lab instructor.
